

Page Ulrey is a Senior Deputy Prosecuting Attorney for the King County Prosecutor's Office. She graduated from Amherst College and Northeastern University School of Law. She began her career at the King County Prosecutor's Office in 1998, and in 2001 was appointed to the newly-created position of elder abuse prosecutor in the Criminal Division. In that position, she prosecutes cases of elder and vulnerable adult neglect, financial exploitation, sexual assault, physical assault, and homicide. Page conducts training and curriculum development on elder abuse prosecution and investigation around the country and internationally. She has testified before the U.S. Senate Special Committee on Aging and has twice spoken at White House conferences on Elder Justice.